

Mental Health Pakistan – Optimizing BRAINS – Accredited MINDS For The Present Tense “Alcoholism, Drug Addiction, Effects of Serious Mental Illness & Narcotic Substance Dependencies On Criminal Offenses”.

Fetal Alcohol to Alcoholism Spectrum Disorders / Narcotic Drugs & Psychotropic Substances Abuse / Addiction Denial Behaviors Counseling / Mental Health Law / Criminological Interventions and Back Channel Diplomacy.

The widely held belief that serious mental illness has been “Criminalize” is based mainly on findings that persons with serious mental illness are more likely to be arrested (1) and are overrepresented in jails (2) and prisons (3). Why persons with serious mental illness are more likely to be arrested and incarcerated is unclear, but a literal and popular interpretation of the criminalization hypothesis implies two possibilities.

First, symptoms of serious mental illness have become de facto criminal offenses; that is, persons with serious mental illness are arrested and incarcerated for displaying psychiatric symptoms. Second, symptoms of serious mental illness motivate or otherwise cause actual Criminal Offenses.

Spread The Word “Addiction – A Chronic Relapsing Brain and Family Disease”!
Brain imaging shows that Addiction severely alters Brain areas critical to decision–making, learning & memory and behavior control’ which may help to explain the compulsive and destructive behaviors of Addiction.

Drug abuse starts early and peaks during the teen years. This increased risk is partly due to adolescents heightened sensitivity to social influences (friends) and their still developing Brain, particularly areas critical to judgment and impulsive control.

Addiction treatment is just the beginning; long term recovery requires a lifetime commitment to healthy decisions and actions. While relapse is common, families can prepare for it. Learn techniques to enhance the odds of long–term recovery.

Scientific studies demonstrate that the right mix of behavioral therapy, medication (when available) and personal support can help Addicted people navigate the road to recovery. Learn how to pick an appropriate treatment approach.

The Clinical Course of Addiction resembles that of Other Severe Disorders with Relapses and Remissions. Given appropriate treatment, most Addicted persons can resume normal life but are not “Cured.”

Unfortunately, most patients do not receive the best treatment because Addiction is not adequately taught in most Medical Schools & Residencies and because many Clinicians are Philosophically opposed to the Models and the use of Medications for this Cognitive Syndrome.

Mental Health Pakistan has Ability to Help Disability!

It's not all about receiving support - people also had a strong and genuine desire to help others through their contributions online. We want to make it easy for people to ask for and give help by letting people discover areas of expertise, find people who need support and enable people to acknowledge when content has been useful.

HOPE (Hang On To Power Everyday) exists to make this Pakistan a place where disabled people have the same opportunities as everyone else. Until then, we'll be here.

PAK and UAE Lawyers have a professionally responsible practice with some of the Country's leading Personal injury, Product liability, Clinical/Medical negligence, Legal Malpractice & Ethics, Disciplinary Consultations & Representations, Employment, International and Human rights Teams. Unlike other law firms, we firmly act exclusively for claimants who've been injured or treated unlawfully by others.
